Kaelan Ashford-Jones

Kaelan Ashford-Jones currently attends Morehouse College in Atlanta, GA. Kaelan is an athlete who plays baseball and was a former Leaders of Tomorrow (LOT) Student, until he graduated from Bishop O'Dowd High School in 2016. During Kaelan's senior year, he suffered a major sports injury in high school, which provided Kaelan an opportunity to experience an incredible improvement in his grades. Kaelan attributes this "life changing experience" as a "wake-up call," which thankfully humbled him as well as re-focused his efforts on academics rather than sports. Kaelan's area of study at Morehouse is in Business management. After graduation, Kaelan plans to become a general manager and will eventually go on to become an owner of a sports team.
